

Collaborative sensemaking

Summary
 Sensemaking is a collaborative technique used to identify, organize and interpret complex data. It is a process that involves a group of people working together to make sense of complex information.

Why we should sensemake
 Collaborative sensemaking is important because it helps to identify and interpret complex data. It is a process that involves a group of people working together to make sense of complex information.

How to make sense of your research
 Collaborative sensemaking is a process that involves a group of people working together to make sense of complex information. It is a process that involves a group of people working together to make sense of complex information.

Section	Page
Introduction	1-10
Why we should sensemake	11-20
How to make sense of your research	21-30
Collaborative sensemaking	31-40
Facilitating collaborative sensemaking	41-50
Workshop design	51-60
Facilitator roles	61-70
Participant roles	71-80
Facilitator questions	81-90
Participant questions	91-100
Facilitator actions	101-110
Participant actions	111-120
Facilitator reflections	121-130
Participant reflections	131-140
Facilitator debriefing	141-150
Participant debriefing	151-160
Facilitator evaluation	161-170
Participant evaluation	171-180
Facilitator feedback	181-190
Participant feedback	191-200
Facilitator conclusion	201-210
Participant conclusion	211-220

Format of the sense making session 11/12/21
 We will have screenshots of pages, images, and some printed notes
 Following this and this recommendations:
 -Introductions, what we want to get from this session (Emiri)
 -Data review: look at the insights, add pass to when things are missing (DOM)
 -Data sharing: in groups, record all opinions, arrange the post-it notes to identify themes and record them (Emiri)
 -Next steps: agree next steps (DOM)

Feedback links on service page were not tested

Issue is not SEP specific

High priority

Medium or not prioritised

David O notes

